FARMERS MUST CUT WEEDS AND GRASS ON ROADS ALONG FARMS

State Law Requiring That Weeds and Obstructions Be Removed From In Front of Farms Will Be Enforced By County.

Appearing in the Public Ledger today is a warning issued by the County Engineer to the people of the county that all weeds, grass, etc., along the pikes and roads adjoining their farms must be cut and removed between July 1st and August 20. This warning is issued by the County Engineer under the provisions of the acts of the Legislature of the 1918 session which made the farmers responsible for the condition of the pikes along and adjoining their property as to weeds and grass.

In many parts of the county now the grass and weeds have grown up along the pikes and roads and this matter should have the attention of the farmers just as soon as they can get out of the rush tobacco and wheat harvest season.

In some parts of the county much complaint has also been made about overhanging trees along the pikes. In some places thorn trees hang over the pike until they drag the buggy tops and flop down in the tops of passing buggies making it very dangerous for those traveling the pikes. These trees should be trimmed before some serious accident is reported.

County Engineer Simona will post in various parts of the county cards calling attention to the section of the statutes which requires that grass and weeds along the pikes and roads be cut by the owners and managers of the abutting farms.

RED CROSS WORKERS URGED TO KEEP CIVIL HOSPITALS

Members of Red Cross Chapters Over the Country Are Asked to Help Local Hospitals.

The American Red Cross is about to distribute to the hospitals of the United States approximately 25,000,000 yards of gauze, such distribution being based upon data procured and recommendations made by the American Hospital Association. Inquiries have already been received from various hospitals as to this possibility of utilizing the services of Red Cross workers in making up this material into surgical dressings. Assisting the civil hospitals of the country in this manner is thoroughly in accord with the present policies of the Red Cross.

"Chapters will be urged," says a report from Lake Division headquarters of the American Red Cross, to volunteer the services of their workers to local hospitals in making up materials supplied by such hospitals into the surgical dressings, hospital garments, or hospital supplies.

"By thus offering to hospitals the service of Red Cross workers the value of the contribution to be made will be greatly increased and the Red Cross will effectively demonstrate its acceptance of cooperation given during the stress of war."

These recommendations made recently in a letter from F. C. Monroe, General Manager of the American Red Cross at Washington, D. C., will answer the questions which have been asked from time to time as to what the Red Cross is doing with this material not in use at the time of the signing of the armistice.

WARNING

To all owners, controllers and managers of lands bordering and abutting on the public highways of Mason county in the state of Kentucky.

Pursuant to chapter 169 Acts of 1918 you are hereby directed to cut and remove, between July 1st, and August 20, 1919, from along the highway upon which your property abuts, all weeds and other obstructions thereon and to cut hedge fences so that same will not be more than five feet in height.

Failure to perform your duty under this act subjects you a fine of not less than $20.00 nor more than $50.00.

BY ORDER OF MASON FISCAL COURT.

PERSONAL RECORD OF MAYSVILLE BOY IN THE WORLD WAR

The following official short history of the part the 11th U. S. Infantry played in the World War is a personal record of Private Roy W. Case, of this city, who joined the regiment February 24, 1918:

This regiment left Camp Forrest, Ga., April 16th, 1918, embarked from Hoboken, N. J., on the U. S. Loyalist, April 24th, and arrived in Brest, France, May 2nd, 1918. Left Brest on May 6th, 1918, and detrained at Bussur-Aube, May 8th, 1918. Training in this area until June 1st. On May 18th a standard of colors were presented to the Regiment on behalf of the descendants of the French Officers who fought with us during the Revolution. The Regiment moved from here to Brimelle-Chateau and entrained on June 2nd, arriving at Le Thillot on June 4th, Regimental Headquarters being established at St. Maurice. June 7th, this regiment moved to Moosch, Alsace. This area was German territory at the beginning of the war. While here the regiment was attached to the 77th Div. (French). From here the regiment moved on June 13th from the trenches of the Aroudi Sector, arriving at Le Collet on June 14th.

The first casualties suffered on the night of June 14th. While moving up to the trenches Captain M. W. Clark was severely wounded and Private Jos. Kanerski, Co. "I" killed by enemy shell-fire. Early on morning of June 26th the enemy attempted to raid the positions held by Co. "I" and "L". The raid was repulsed with losses to the enemy. July 1st at 2 a. m., enemy again attempted a raid on outposts held by Co. "G" and "H". Bosche were driven off with a loss of one officer killed and several men wounded. July 3rd regiment took over sub-sectors Bischstein and Gascogne of the Aroudi Sector. Regimental P. C. at Camp Nicholas. Regiment remained in this sector until July 14th. July 15th embusssed to St. Die Sector. Regimental Headquarters at Denipalre. The first prisoner captured by the 5th Division was taken on July 23, by a patrol composed of men of Co. "I" 11th Inf., 2nd Lt. H. S. Soper, commanding. July 28th second prisoner was taken by patrol command by Lt. J. W. Gulse of Co. "I" Frappelle was taken by the 6th Infantry on Aug. 17th. Co. "I" 11th Infantry co-operated with that regiment. Aug. 22nd the regiment left the trenches. This ended our position warfare. Aug. 25th, arrived at Archeffe. Embusssed from here, Aug. 30th, to Neuvillers Area. Left area for St. Mihiel Area Sept. 6th. St. Mihiel: Our barrage started at 1 a. m., Sept. 12th. Regiment got in position for jumping off at 4:30 a. m. Sept. 12. The attack started at 5 p. m. Division Front held by 10th Brigade, 11th Infantry on right, 6th Infantry on left, each regiment having one battalion in front line. 357th Infantry (90th Div.) was on our right, 3rd Inf. was assault battalion 1st Bn. followed and then 2nd Bn. Regiment reached all objectives on scheduled time, taking hundreds of prisoners. Bois des Saulx, Bois des Grandes Portions, Bois de la Rappes, Bois St. Claude, Vierville-en-Haye and Bois Gerard were all taken by this regiment Sept. 12th. On Sept. 13th a short but fierce counter-attack of the enemy was broken up by the regiment. About midnight Sept. 15th, regiment relieved by 61st Inf., moving into intermediate position and remained there until Sept. 16th. On Sept. 29th while stationed at Dieulouard, three enemy shells caused a great number of casualties in 1st Bn. On Oct. 1st Bn., Reg. Hdqrs. established at Trondes. Oct. 4th, embusssed from Fous to a camp near Lampere. Oct. 5th, regiment moved to Bois de Culey and on Oct. 12th, to vicinity of Montfaucon. Oct. 13th, casualties were suffered here as result of heavy shelling from enemy guns. Took up position around Ferme de la Madeleine night of Oct. 13th. Went "over" morning of Oct. 14th, and remained in action continuously until Oct. 22nd, when regiment moved into support position. On Oct. 21st, Bois des Rappes was taken by this regiment. The taking of this position is the subject of letters of commendation by Army and Corps Commanders. The Regiment again went into action Nov. 2nd in the Meuse drive and remained in action to the end of the fighting on Nov. 11th at 11 a. m. During the fighting from Nov. 5th to 11th, this regiment took from the enemy: Liny-Devant-Dun, Hill 160, on Nov. 5th; Bois de Fayel, Murvaux, Bois de Bussy, Fontaines, les Fony Bois, Bois Chasseigne, Bois de Falles, Croix Morand and Bois du Corrol, on Nov. 6th; Hill 226, Brandeville and Hill 272, on Nov. 7th; Bois de Romerville, Bois de Mon-

FUGITIVE STEALS AUTO AND CONTINUES FIGHT

Officers of Southern Ohio Towns Look For Charles Rick, Who Escaped Newport Jail and Stole Auto To Make Get Away.

After learning Cincinnati and Newport police had trailed him to his hiding place in New Richmond, Ohio, Charles Rick, one of four prisoners who escaped from the Newport jail last Wednesday night, again eluded the authorities Sunday afternoon by escaping in a stolen automobile.

Rick formerly lived at Laurel, Ohio, near New Richmond, and is known in New Richmond. The Marshal of New Richmond and citizens were notified that Rick was in hiding in the vicinity and they were requested to detain him if he appeared in the village.

At the same time the Marshal learned Rick had stolen the automobile of Charles West from in front of West's home in New Richmond. While the Marshal and a posse were searching roads near Laurel, Rick boldly drove to two garages in New Richmond and conversed with attendants as they filled the gasoline tank. Those who saw him feared to attempt to detain him, and he drove away without interference.

The Marshal and a posse Sunday night were accouuring the country for Rick. Newport police were told, while a description of the fugitive and the stolen car was sent to Southern Ohio towns.

Rick was under sentence to serve nine months for having broken a seal on a railroad freight car. Rick and three other prisoners sawed through two iron bars in the Newport jail.

K. E. A. MEETING OPENED IN LOUISVILLE TODAY

Many Teachers Present From Over the State—Supt. W. J. Caplinger of This City One of Them.

The annual meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association was opened in Louisville last night with a large attendance of teachers from all parts of the state. Supt. W. J. Caplinger of this city one of them.

The annual meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association was opened in Louisville last night with a large attendance of teachers from all parts of the state. Supt. W. J. Caplinger of this city one of them.

The Victory Programme celebrating the end of the World War was held last night in the auditorium of the First Christian church.

No opportunity was offered for the introduction of the resolution of Prof. George T. Ragsdale condemning the action of the State Textbook Board.

The resolution will probably be made after the formal opening of the convention.

The assembly departed from the usual order of opening the teachers' convention with evening programme honoring one Kentucky author or group of authors. Edward Hines, State chairman of the Kentucky Council of National Defense, presided.

Army bands from Camp Zachary Taylor furnished the music. The auditorium of the church was decorated with flags for the occasion.

Gon. Logan Feland was the principal speaker. He spoke of the noble part which Kentucky's soldiers played in the war. Col. Samuel Wilson, Lexington, and Ensign Overton Harris, Louisville, were also on the programme.

The formal opening of the convention was held in the auditorium of the church. Those who are: Orville Silvers, president of the association; V. O. Gilbert, State Superintendent of Education; Prof. McHenry Rhodes, State High School Inspector; R. L. MacFarland and J. A. Linke, Federal Agricultural Agent of Indianapolis.

Rueben Post Hallack, author and educator, will speak on the "Greatest Leverage in Education." Dr. C. A. Prosser, Director of Federal Board for Vocational Relief, will round out the evening programme with an address on "Neglected Fields of Education."

Afternoons during the four-day convention will be devoted to entertainment of the visitors.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL AT PINE BLUFF NOW OPEN

This School Was Obtained Through the Efforts of Miss Alice Lloyd and Others of This City and State.

Fifteen white girls of the Reform School at Greendale were removed to the new industrial institution at Pine Bluff, Shelby county, Monday. The girls were in charge of Superintendent Charles P. Weaver and Miss McGovern, a woman attendant at the Reform school.

The school to which the girls were taken is being erected by State and Federal funds jointly contributed for this purpose. Several buildings have already been completed and others are in the course of erection.

The farm which is being used as the site of the institution was obtained through the efforts of the Federation of Women's Clubs of which Miss Alice Lloyd of this city was chairman and the directive head that secluded the funds throughout the state that bought it, and a large house is on the tract. Preparations for receiving girls have been under way for sometime.

It was announced at the Reform school at Greendale yesterday that all of the white girls at that institution will be sent to Pine Bluff and that the consignment sent away Monday was the beginning of their exodus.

LOCAL PASTOR ON ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

LOCAL DELEGATES TO ATTEND STATE ASSEMBLY

Messrs. Robert Powers and Harold Caplinger, delegates from the B. V. P. U. of the local Baptist church, will leave Wednesday for Georgetown, Ky., where they will attend the annual Assembly being held at Georgetown college this week.

PICNIC POSTPONED

On account of the rainy weather the picnic of the First Presbyterian Church and Sunday School planned for Tuesday afternoon was postponed till next week. The exact date will be announced later.

Mr. John G. Wadsworth, Jr., was a business visitor in Carlisle Monday.

LAST WAIL OF A POWERFUL BUT CONQUERED FOE

Note, Accepting Terms, Show Germans Resentful and Hostile to the End.

Paris, June 24.—The note of the Germans, accepting the Allied terms, shows them to be resentful and bitter-hostile to the end: It reads:

"It appears to the government of the German Republic, in consternation at the last communication of the Allied and Associated governments, that these governments have decided to wrest from Germany by force acceptance of the peace conditions, even those which, without presenting any material significance, aim at divesting the German people of their honor.

"No act of violence can touch the honor of the German people. The German people, after frightful suffering in these last years, have no means of defending themselves by external action.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

GROVER CLEVELAND AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE

When one is traveling in the foothills of a mountain range, it is difficult to appreciate the height and grandeur of the peaks, and it is only at a distance that we are able to judge clearly relative heights, to pick out the main peaks of the range, and so it is with great men, their lives and work. We may appreciate in a way their greatness while living, but the true measure of it comes to us only with time. Grover Cleveland was a dominant, positive figure in American life for many years. We appreciated his strength while he lived, but as the years go by he looms up greater and greater; and now we know him to be one of America's greatest Presidents.

He loved America. He believed in her institutions; saw in her the hope of countless millions yet unborn. He breathed the spirit of intense Americanism. In his opinion, there was no room in America for those who were part American and part something else. Like Roosevelt, he was intolerant of shams, detested snobs and hated insincerity. He spoke the truth as he saw it.

He believed in a sound system of national defense—a subject which in his time it was difficult to interest the people in. He realized that words alone were not sufficient, and that the most skillfully constructed of verbal defense of which the English language is capable could be shattered by a single armed soldier. He did not believe in verbal massacre.

Under him the new navy was commenced, under the direction of that very able Secretary of the Navy, William C. Whitney. He realized that the Stars and Stripes had been all but forgotten on the high seas, and in his first message he stated "all must admit the importance of an effective navy to a nation like ours." Commenting on our weak condition at sea, he declared: "The nation that cannot resist aggression is constantly exposed to it. Its foreign policy is, of necessity, weak, and its negotiations are conducted with disadvantage, because it is not in condition to enforce the terms dictated by its sense of right and justice." It was difficult at that time to arouse the interest of the general public in army matters. Nevertheless, it was under Mr. Endicott, as Secretary of War, that the problem of a sound system of seacoast defense was taken up, a definite plan adopted and put in operation, a plan which, with modifications, has continued in force up to the present time.

He stood squarely for the Monroe Doctrine, as shown not only by his action in the Venezuela case, but as stated in his inaugural address:

"The genius of our institutions, the needs of our people in their home life, and the attention which is demanded for the settlement and development of the resources of our vast territory, dictate the scrupulous avoidance of any departure from that foreign policy commanded by the history, tradition and the prosperity of our republic. It is the policy of independence, favored by our position, and defended by our known love of justice and our power. It is the policy of peace suitable to our interests. It is the policy of neutrality, rejecting any share in foreign broils and ambitions upon other continents, and repelling their intrusion here. It is the policy of Monroe, and Washington, and Jefferson. Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none."

He believed in an America with such a conscience that she could safely be trusted to act under the impulse of her own convictions, whenever the interests of humanity or civilization demanded. His continuing belief in the importance of the Monroe Doctrine is found in his "Presidential Problems," written in his last years.—From the Speech Delivered by Major-General Wood to the Grover Cleveland Association, New York City, March 18, 1919.

How far from President Cleveland's teaching are the views of some Americans who would be willing to throw the Monroe Doctrine overboard and make "entangling alliances" with all the world!—Manufacturers Record, Baltimore.

THE NERVE OF THE HUN

In reply to your letter of June 6, 1914—in these words a German firm begins a communication to a New York concern, which in outlook and sentiment, seems to crystallize the German mentality. It is unmatched in its superb blandness and in cold-blooded Teutonic efficiency.

"Certain little matters have 'dislocated the routine of our office system, but explanations are surely unnecessary,'" the letter goes on. Perhaps the chief correspondence clerk exchanged the pen for the bayonet or the head bookkeeper doffed his jacket for the skull and cross-bones tunie of a U-boat pirate, or maybe the chief collector was busy at Louvain, where collections were heavy.

But all this is now passed and we must get back to business. "Ach, Hans! How the correspondence has been neglected. Let us at once a beginning make." That there should be any prejudice against him does not penetrate the Teuton mind. The humor of it in magnificent impudence, is lost on the German consciousness. Yes, today a soldier; ah, yes! But today:

"In reply to your letter of June 6, 1919."

A company of American soldiers in Russia sulked a bit about going to the frozen front. Too cold to fight, perhaps.

The Egyptian revolution continues. It seems in the land of the cigarette they roll something beside their own.

Since the county is more than 1,000,000 houses short, this promises to be a great season for living in the open.

Another thing we are convinced of is that frequently either the weather or the weather bureau is away off.

"Bolshevism" seems to have succeeded "camouflage" as the sadly overworked word of the day.

England may tax bachelors. Here is a desperate effort to put in practice the theory of the single tax.

Kentucky Politics As It Looks Today

Governor James D. Black will not attempt to force the present State Text Book Commission out of office, but will include in his house-cleaning program at the capitol the removal of the entire State Board of Pensions and Charitable Institutions, the discharge of the three attorneys employed by Governor Stanley in the Bingham tax case, and the refusal to appoint State Auditor, L. Greene, present State Auditor, to a position on the State Tax Commission, according to a Frankfort Democrat and supporter of Governor Black, who says that the information came directly from him. According to his story, the Governor believes he cannot remove the Text Book Commission for not following the law, because it had the right to interpret it, but that he has found cause for the removal of the Prison Board in the activities of two of the members.

A change in the personnel of the State Tax Commission is also imminent, as the term of Ben D. Ringo, who is serving out the unexpired term of M. M. Logan, former chairman, will expire next month. He will be re-appointed for the term of four years, according to the Stanley program, it is said, but Auditor R. L. Greene, who was scheduled to resign and accept a position on the commission July 1, according to well informed politicians, will be disappointed, it is said. Will Montgomery, Elizabethtown banker, is tipped for appointment to the place which will be vacant in another week.

The chairman, James A. Scott, was appointed as the Republican member of the commission, was re-appointed by Governor Stanley this year, and is now serving on a recess appointment, so that Governor Black would have the precedent of Governor Stanley for removing him on the ground that he is a defected officer and has no appointment, as it has not been confirmed by the Senate.

Others in the same position are the members of the Prison Board, said to be slated for removal. They are Henry Hines, Bowling Green, chairman; F. Thomas, Herbert Carr, Fulton; Forrest Butts, Carrollton, and Judge John A. Burton, Lebanon. No Senate has been in session since their appointment. It was in making a place for Mr. Hatcher on the board that Governor Stanley promulgated his unique doctrine regarding unconfirmed appointments, when he succeeded in removing from the board Henry Lawrence of Cadiz, on the ground that he held office only at the pleasure of the Senate.

The resignation of James Garnett, one of the special attorneys in the Bingham tax case, is said to be already in the hands of Governor Black, who is expected soon to indicate to the other two, Elihu Hufaker and Robert G. Gordon, that theirs would be acceptable.

Governor Black's "L. & N." letter is still claiming the attention of the State papers, who have given up hope that he will attempt to explain or justify it. The Mt. Sterling Sentinel Democrat goes so far as to call upon the Governor to withdraw from his race for the nomination on that account, asking:

"Conceding the purity of his motives when he wrote the letter; conceding that it was only an unfortunate expression; conceding that it was proper for him while Assistant Attorney General to continue to represent the L. & N. in litigation entrusted to him before he became Assistant Attorney General can his warmest friend honestly say that it does not seriously affect his availability as the head of our ticket at a time when we can afford to take no chances?"

It calls upon every Democrat to read the letter and decide whether it destroys or impairs the availability of Black as a candidate, and says that the Governor should be brought to a realization that his candidacy under such a cloud is a danger to his party and to success in the State and national elections.

In speaking of the Governor's opportunit ty for reforms, the Louisville Post says: "Governor Black's future is in his own hands, and by an inexor able chain of events the opportunity to do something for Kentucky that will arouse this State from one end to the other rest with the man who has recently taken the oath as Governor of Kentucky." There are a number of men now holding political offices in the State who should be separated from these offices. There are old poli cies that should be abandoned and new policies that should be inaugu rated and penal and charitable institu tions that need the touch of a new hand.

The Governor should act and act quickly.

The Stories The Dewdrop Told

IV. DOLLY LEARNS THE RED FAIRY'S NAME

Dolly looked against in the dewdrop globe, and watched eagerly as the tiny little object that the boy fairy said was "growing" moved about cheerfully in the dark room of the earth.

"But what makes its face all red like that?" she asked the boy fairy.

"What makes your cheeks so pink?" replied the fairy.

"Why, mothermine says it is because I have plenty of fresh air and wholesome food," said Dolly.

"Well, the little plant is getting the same things and that is what makes it red," said the boy fairy, smiling a little.

"How can it get fresh air way down there?" asked Dolly.

Very kindly the Boy Dewdrop Fairy explained to Dolly that the sweet brown earth is full of good food. "Don't you remember," said the fairy, "the fertilizer you saw the boys putting on the garden? And it breathes through the green leaves that are up in the air."

"How funny—I mean how strange," said Dolly, who was trying to use words correctly. "How could all that come out of such a tiny, tiny black thing—was that a seed?"

"Of course it was a seed. Don't you know its name?" answered the boy fairy.

"No—there were so many little black seeds that I can't remember all their names," said Dolly.

"Well, you will find out when you go to breakfast. But wait a minute. Look over on the right side. What do you see—a little farther down in the ground?"

"Oh, the poor little thing!" said Dolly.

What she saw was a thin, twisted neck with a shrivelled feather or leaf on it, while the foot that should have been a jolly looking red ball was nothing but a hard brown lump.

"What is the matter with that one?"

"The earless little girl or boy who planted it put it too deep into the ground, so it couldn't breathe, and now it will never come up. But look at the one over there on the left."

Dolly did as she was told, and this time she saw a yellowish bunch of leaves leaning over and almost flat on the ground, while a dull pinkish knob, half out of the earth, looked unhealthy and sad.

"That one," said the dewdrop fairy, "was one planted deep enough, and it should not eat the good food provided for it, it starved to death. So you see how careful one must be put the seeds in the ground just right in the first place, or else the poor little plant can never grow as it wants to. And now run in to your breakfast and find out what my name is."

She looked curiously over the table to see what the dewdrop fairy could have meant, and there lying in a cool, green bed, were some green balls that looked very much like the head of the fairy, while from each one sprouted a bunch of feathery green leaves.

"Oh, Mothermine," cried Dolly. "What are those—please tell me quickly!"

"Why, child," said Mothermine, "those are the first radishes out of your garden."

BOOK QUESTIONS ARE UNANSWERED BY APPELLATE COURT

Attorney General Falls to Get Information on Text Book Adoptions
State Court of Appeals
Adjourns.

Frankfort, Ky., June 23.—Before the Court of Appeals adjourned for the summer vacation, Attorney General Morris submitted to it several questions relating to the adoption of text books. He wanted to know what course the Text Book Commission should pursue if 50 per cent. of the books now in use were offered at the old price, and whether the commission must adopt 50 per cent. of all the books now in use or divide the common schools and high schools by making 50 per cent adoption for each. The court did not pass on these questions before adjournment.

The court, however, on its own motion, struck out certain language used in the original opinion and held that "The State Text Book Commission can make no selection of subjects, for the subjects taught in the common schools are determined and adopted by statute (Section 24, Acts of 1916; and and Chapter 82, Acts of 1918), and the subjects taught in the high schools are determined and adopted by the State Board of Education under power conferred by Statute (Chapter 24, section 212, Acts of 1915), whereas the duties of the State Text Book Commission are limited to providing on the best terms possible, books required for teaching and studying the subjects prescribed by the Statutes and the State Board of Education."

Copies of the opinion of the Court of Appeals in the State Text Book case are being sent to book publishers along with notice of proposals and bids for furnishing text books for adoption for the use of the high and common schools of the State for a period of five years.

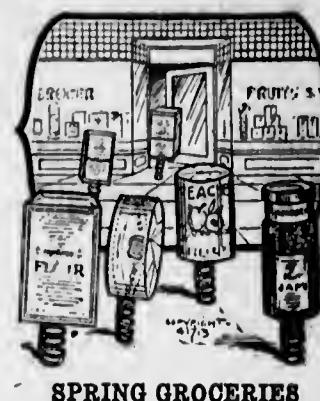

Governor James D. Black and Superintendent of Public Instruction Gilbert have also prepared directions relating to the submission of sample copies.

Unless the publishers desire to submit books which were not submitted for the purpose of adoption under the previous 1919 proposal, they will not

Why Central Can Not Answer Questions

The duty of the switchboard operator is to answer your number calls and get connections for you.

If she stopped to answer questions, the number of calls would pile up and the service would be delayed; this would be an injustice to the other subscribers.

When in response to a question, the operator says: "I will give you Chief Operator", she is obeying her instruction.

If you cannot find what you want in the telephone directory, ask the operator for "Chief Operator" and she will connect you with the "Chief Operator" where your questions will be promptly answered.

From Three Years' Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work.

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today.

Valuable Old Oil Paintings of Scenes in and About Maysville to Go On Sale.

There are listed with other household goods to be sold at auction in the old Roser home, 34 East Front street, Thursday afternoon, some large oil paintings.

One is a fine view looking down the river from lower end of the wharfboat, showing the west end of the city and the seven hills.

Another painting gives a view up the river, showing the wharf and two ferryboats, the Gretna Green and the Frank S. Owens.

A third painting is a snow scene of East Maysville when Second street extension was only partly filled in.

There are some very interesting points in each of these pictures and there should be some sharp bidding by several of our citizens, who prize valuable paintings for their homes.

There are two more paintings of scenes elsewhere.

GREAT FOR EMERGENCIES

San Cura Ointment Should Be In Every Home.

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitecock, of Controville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by J. Jas. Wood & Son to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, letters, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains, and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at J. Jas. Wood & Son.

BEST SKIN SOAP

is San Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a cake at J. Jas. Wood & Son.

ADVANCED STEPS ARE TAKEN BY THE STOCK SALES MEN

Committee in Charge of Maysville and Mason County Stock Sales Makes Arrangements For Im- provements.

At a meeting of the Stock Sales Division of the Chamber of Commerce Member Dodson reported that the matter of continuing the appropriation had been brought before the attention of Council at the recent meeting and they agreed to continue the support to the extent of $40 to be appropriated as follows: $25 for rent and $15 for publicity and maintenance. Member Dodson also reported that matter of having the scales adjusted, referred to him at a recent meeting of the Stock Sales Committee, had been attended to and the scales at present were in first-class condition.

Chairman Purnell called the members attention to the fact that during the recent campaign for rural membership a number of the members requested that the Chamber of Commerce put forth an effort to have the steamboat representative come to the stock yards for stock placed there to be shipped, thereby saving the farmer an extra trip into town to have them loaded. Member Dodson was appointed to attend to this matter.

TOM MOORE IS STAR OF "JUST FOR TONIGHT"

Goldwyn introduces popular Tom Moore as a star in "Just for Tonight", by Charles A. Ince, which comes to the Pastime Theater, tomorrow. It provides the young actor with a role that admirably fits his remarkable talents.

Theodore Whitney, Jr. (played by Tom Moore) is in love with a girl who chooses to conceal her identity. When Whitney's father commissions him to recover a missing mining stock certificate he meets her and is so grossed that he returns without the certificate, which meanwhile has fallen into the hands of a mysterious stranger. The girl, it develops, is Betty Blake, niece of Major Black- burn, whose home was recently the scene of a jewel robbery. Betty meets the prowling stranger and detects his suspect. They are ordered from their house when they make known their suspicions to the Major.

Whitney, on learning that one of the sleuths is to go to the Blackburn home in the guise of a British nobleman, induces the detective to let him pose as Lord Roxenham. Arriving at the Major's home, Whitney, as butler, who brings woman known as Lady Roxenham to expose him. The major orders Whitney to leave house before morning, but before he does he proves that the lady is not only an import, but a jewel robber, too, and that the butler is her thieving assistant. See this picture at the Pastime tomorrow (Wednesday, June 25.)
